The Ant and the Grasshopper

One summer afternoon a Grasshopper was hopping about in a field. He was singing merrily and enjoying the day. On his way, he met an Ant who was struggling to take a grain of corn to his nest.

The Grasshopper was a lazy fellow. He thought he had nothing to do. So, when he saw the Ant, he said, “Why don’t you come and chat with me instead of toiling so hard? We will have a great time!”

“I am trying to collect and store food for the winter. I can’t waste time being idle. I think you should start saving food for winter too,” said the Ant.

The Grasshopper yawned and said, “Winter is too far away. There is plenty of time. Why worry about it today when I have more than enough to eat!” But the Ant went on his way and continued to work hard. Days passed, then months. The Grasshopper enjoyed himself and the Ant collected enough food for the winter.

When the winter came, the leaves had fallen and the grass was dry. The Grasshopper had nothing to eat. It started to snow and he had nowhere to go. He thought he would die of hunger and cold. On the other hand, the Ant was enjoying the fruits of his hard work. He had a nice and cozy home and plenty to eat. Then the Grasshopper regretted not working hard when he should have.
